

A Seven Foot Tall Tower of Glamour And Love Has Been Spotted Roaming the Streets of Los Angeles and An Area Near You!

Momma has been called by the L.A. Times and the L.A. Weekly a "Los Angeles Drag Icon."

*www.MediaRelationships.com
InTheMedia@aol.com or 213-891-9345.*

January 11, 2004 - Fashion, fun, and frolic is what you experience when you are in the presence of one of the world's most popular drag idols Momma. When you meet Momma, you meet her twins (a set of boobs making even Dolly Parton take a second look). Her vision is to make a difference in the lives of people wanting a touch or a smile. "People are the reason I'm a drag queen. Without a soul to tickle, I'm just a sour pickle." quoted Momma. Her fashion sense and comic timing is requested time and time again in both the gay and straight communities. Recently "sainted" by the Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence for helping raise millions of dollars, she also received her third nomination and second WeHo Award for Outstanding "Drag Diva." While finishing her third year of co-producing "Gay Days" at Disneyland, Momma received West Hollywood's "Key to the City" and the proclamation of "Momma Day."

Last year, an original musical was written for Momma called "Momma's Dream House." Momma is making plans to take this show on the road. Momma can be seen daily on OutoftheCloset.tv's "Out on the Streets with Momma" and has been seen in a multitude of entertainment arenas. Over the past few years, she toured with Placido Domingo in the Opera "Il Pagliacci," directed by legendary director Franco Zeffereilli. She is the first Drag Personality to be hired by the Disney company to host "Evita Sing-a-Long" at their El Capitan Theatre in Hollywood, and toured five other cities. She appeared in the premier episode of Whoopie Goldberg's hit NBC series called "Whoopie!" and has appeared on "Will & Grace" twice. Her appearances on "E" Television programs such as "Club Vegas," "Club Cherry," "Hollywood Nights," and "Fashion Emergence" have wowed audiences worldwide.

While living in the "Glamour Capital," Momma has appeared in numerous films such as "Queen of the Whole Wide World", "Get Your Stuff", "Leather Jacket Love Story," and 12 other features and shorts. She just finished an educational film called "Momma's Angels." In the film, she helps High School students deal with drugs and sexually transmitted diseases.

Momma is best known for her public appearances. She has hosted some of the most glamorous events in the show biz capitol. She has graced the stages of Dragstrip, Makeup, Outfest, Los Angeles Opera, Bad Boys Pool Parties, Sky Bar, Drag-a-licious, Nike "Made to Move" campaign, The Red Dress Ball, L.A. Shanti, Dragville, Little Black Dress Event, Trevor Project, Aid for AIDS, Tran-nie Shack, Aids Healthcare Foundation, Club FAB, Project Angel Food, and numerous other events to help AIDS and Breast Cancer. From greeting cards to calendars, movie theaters to music videos, Momma is a renaissance woman perfectly fitting into a new millennium of drag!

###